DONATION

When our first president, Henry Marshall Tory, presided over the first convocation of a fledgling University of Alberta, he declared, "The modern state university is a people's institution. The people demand that knowledge shall not be the concern of scholars alone. The uplifting of the whole people shall be its final goal." And the U of A has been doing just that for more than a century—uplifting people economically, spiritually, socially and intellectually. This impact stretches from our students, staff, and faculty to people across Alberta, Canada and around the world who have benefitted from the knowledge and discoveries created here. This has been possible thanks to the support of many, including you. You are helping uplift the whole people through your support of student scholarships and bursaries, groundbreaking research, and excellence in teaching.
